Response to chemoradiotherapy was evaluated using the criteria of Mandard's tumor regression grading (TRG) system. In 4 patients, FDG-PET could not be performed because of refusal to cooperate. The remaining 45 patients had true-positive (TRG 0-3), true-negative (TRG 4), false-positive (TRG 4-5), and false-negative (TRG 0-3) FDG-PET findings. The accuracy rate of TRG was 78.8% (36/46) before chemoradiotherapy and 73.3% (33/45) after chemoradiotherapy. The sensitivity

Features Key:

Character Classes Each character has its own set of weapons and armor and can make the best use of them in combat. Each character has its own set of unique abilities.

Unique Confrontation System A unique conflict system allows you to engage in one-on-one fights with monsters. It introduces a fear factor to battle, where a character may choose to back down rather than fight. There are also effects such as party members going berserk, and in some cases, fighting as an individual.

Grotesque Monsters Each monster has been designed with a precise sense of balance to ensure refined gameplay. They are some of the most dangerous adversaries you'll face.

Selectable Camera Angles We implemented the ability to view the player character from different angles to enable you to view the battlefield from different perspectives, depending on what situation you're in.

Multiple Dungeons A variety of dungeons each with its own unique appearance and quests, all filled with monsters.

Shocking Opponent Special Attacks The monsters who have grasped the power of the Elden Ring seek to inflict the wrath of their magic on their opponents. These attacks are all one-of-a-kind — when their attack expires, they follow through with a special attack.

Random Battles Bring some chaos into the battlefield with the new “party” system, which allows you to form temporary parties to fight alongside you in a battle. The battle system allows you to control a team and form a strategy that works to your advantage.

Q: Improve the performance of selected items list in WPF I'm working on a Windows Template, in which I wanted to select some items in a ListBox and show all the selected items with the SelectedItems property of the ListBox. This works fine, but now I'm stuck on the performance. Because the selected item list is huge, in the XAML I bound the ListBox to the ObservableCollection : And in the ViewModel I loop over the List and return a CollectionChangeAction of item to be added :
foreach(var selectedItem in sellItems) { if(selectedItem!= null) camboule = collectionChangeAction.AddOrRemoveItemAt(0,selectedItem,esConfouOrderRef); } And then in the application module I apply the action : e.AddedItems.ForEach(added => AddedItems.Add(item)); e.RemovedItems.For
