WA Production â€™ MIDIQ 1.0.0 (VSTi) [WiN x64]. [Manual].ST. PETERSBURG — The battle is going to be in the yard. Florida's short-handed defense — and a repeat of last week's key fumble — has the offense concerned. "It's not really the defensive line's problem," quarterback Drew Lock said. "It's a concern to me. We need to block better and the linebackers have got to get off blocks." Lock's appreciation of the issue is shared by coach Dan Mullen. He admits the main focus is on a cleaner pocket at the line. "The pocket and the timing of the play have got to get better. The screen game is going to help us," Mullen said. "We're not going to be a one-dimensional offense. We want to be able to do all three phases. The screen game will help that." There's another key element to the screen game: The running back. Florida has turned to Ian Bunting and Matt Jones as his replacements. If the line doesn't get better, the screen pass is going to get difficult to execute. Mullen and offensive coordinator Steve Mullendore are prepared for that. "It's pretty important because I think you have to have a little bit of a guy over the center to hold up," Mullen said. "It's got to be a pretty big ball carrier that can take off like those guys." More:With Doug Martin at receiver, Lamar Miller at running back expected to lead Florida's offense More:Will Grier's first year as starting QB be the

Q: Detecting Console Output in Express 4 I would like to make a central queue/log of program output, but in express4 (with nodejs and ejs). I currently have a function hooked up to a route, that simply forwards the output to a log (via console.log), and outputs that to the end user. I would like to consolidate it all in a single location. How would I go about doing this? A: if you don't want to install any modules: var fs = require('fs'); var stream = require('stream'); var ServerStream = stream.Writable({ write: function(chunk, encoding, done) {
